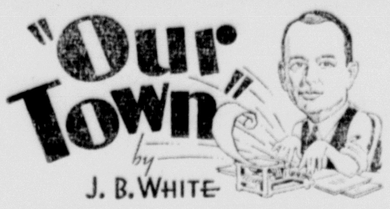
MEEKS NOT GUILTY JURY VERDICT



Good old Ken expresses the opinion of Our Town pretty well in the following editorial comment on the European situation:

This is written on Lincoln's Birthday. Up to the moment of writing, nothing has occurred to indicate that the Chambelain-Bonnet coterie have learned any lesson whatsoever from the meeting at Munich. On the contrary, there have been ominous indications that history was about to repeat itself in the manner of that most scabrous chapter. The second Munich that was in the making was only halted by Roosevelt's adroit play in performing, behind Chamberlain's and Bonnet's backs, warning gestures of defiance to Musso-Hitler — something that neither Chamberlain nor Bonnet would have dreamed of doing if left to themselves. The effect was to postpone, if not avert, the next sell-out on the schedule of appeasement.

But that fall of Catalonio marks the completion of another successful finesse against France, in the card game that Hitler has dealt and is playing with Musso as his dummy-partner. France, by letting the Loyalists lose, has unguarded her Queen of Empire (the Mediterranean sea-route) and whether it falls now or later in the game doesn't realiy matter.

Nor does that question that has the kibitzers on their ears, as to whether Hitler will next strike East or West, matter much more. Adolf has played his hand so skillfully up to this point that he now has his sure tricks established on both sides of the board, East and West, and can decide the order in which he wants to take them to suit himself. It appears less and less likely, as the game goes on, that gunplay will interrupt it before Hitler has taken his every European trick, East and West. So why worry about what doesn't matter?

What does matter very much is that the bent backbone of the European opposition to the Nazi-Fascist ideology lost one of its few straight segments in the perhaps disastrously untimely death of Pope Pius. Of the two great disasters of this winter-end to the anti-fascist cause, the fall of Catalonia and the Pope's death, the latter may yet well prove to have been the graver in its consequences.

Hitler could have been stopped in a week, in March of '36, when he moved into the Rhineland. He could have been stopped in a month, in March '37. He couldn't have been stopped in much under six months by the time he moved into Austria in March of '38, and by Ocober of '38 when he moved into the Sudetenland stopping him would have been a full year's job. Now in 1939, when as he has said, "Whatever happens I'll be in Budapest by Spring," stopping him is a job that has grown almost by geometrical progression.

If nobody wanted to stop him when it was easy, who's going to want to try it when it's hard? Chamberlain? Hardly. Bonnet? Even less. Stalin? Least of all, and the joke's on the Clivedenites who have all along been so insolently sure that they could handle Hitler like a fire-hose, to turn him on the Soviets at will.

So here's how it looks from where we sit. Remembering that anschluss by any other name will smell no sweeter, Hilter will take Hungary and Rumania and Danzigland and Liechtenstein (if you want to count it) and German Switzerlaand and Denmark and (to all intents and purposes) Finland, without having anybody in Europe try to stop him. The above list is not complete; it ignores what he has already taken under his wing, such as Memelland and Slovakia. And probably the list ought to be amended to include Holland, too.

Beyond these common-law marriages (to avoid using a four-letter word to designate these forthcoming Nazi acquisitions of territory in fact if not in name,) there must be considered one other affair of a slightly different nature: the Ukraine. If the others are abductions pure and simple, with the cops on the not-intervention beat carefully looking the other way each time, then this one may have to be designated "abduction of convenience," in other words, with the consent of the guardian. Because Stalin won't play a mug's game; he'll find a way to avoid fighting over the Ukraine. And by comparison with the Bonnet-Chamberlain give-aways, it will be a shrewd bargain too.

And then what? Why then, as sure as you're a foot high, there'll come the turn of "the Portuguese and the Argentines," as the old song goes, and never mind the Greeks. Because if there is no casus belli in Europe over Nazi-Fascist penetration methods, then the finding of casus belli will only be deferred until that day when the Monroe Doctrine is beat beyond the breaking point.

This, then, is the way we predict nothing but success for Hitler, come the Ides of March, and for a long time after that. And this is one time when Ken makes a prediction in the fervent hope that it's wrong.

AUGUST HORSTMANN FOR ALDRERMAN

August Horstmann, member of the City Council and prominent in the administration of the affairs of the city for the past several years, is a candidate for re-election to that office subject to the general city election to be held on Tuesday, April 4, 1939.

In announcing for re-election Mr. Horstmann was happy to acknowledge many pledges of support from his friends throughout the city. Mr. Horstmann has had a responsible relationship with the administration of the city's affairs since his first election. At the present time he is chairman of the street committee and as such is directing that department.

When Mr. Horstmann took over this work, many of the streets of the town were badly in need of repairs and much constructive work has been done under Mr. Horstmann's leadership. As result of immediate needs it was necessary for Mr. Horstmann to spend more money than his normal budget but he is happy to report to the taxpayers that his expenditures are well under the budget estimate this year. In other words Mr. Horstmann will spend less money this year than he has been accustomed to spending because he has purchased some needed equipment, including a carload of asphalt and has done considerable lasting work.

During Mr. Horstmann's service

FRED JACKSON FOR ALDERMAN

Fred Jackson, a former member of the City Council, today announced his candidacy for election to that body as alderman, effective with the election on Tuesday, April 4, 1939.

Mr. Jackson is a well known Cameron businessman and tay payer and is owner of the Bluebonnet Cafe. As a businessman he understands the problems of the tax payers and said today on announcing for the office that his desire would be to enforce strict economy in the administration of the city's fiscal affairs, believing that many savings can be effected by an efficient administration of the government.

Mr. Jackson said that if elected to the Board of Aldermen, he hoped to be able through his influence on the Council to reduce telephone rates in the city of Cameron. There is now pending before the Senate of Texas a bill by Doss Hardin of Waco fixing charges for telephone rates and giving to cities the authority to fix minimum and maximum charges and generally empowering cities and towns to regulate rates. Mr. Jackson said that he feels that if this

League May Stop Illegal Enlistment of Athletes

The case of Temple High School charged with violating the rules and regulations of the Interscholastic League of Texas now pending before that body in Austin, is important to every school in Texas because of the issues involved.

The basic charge brought by the high school at Holland is that athletics in the Temple High School are in the hands of an athletic council and not directed by the superintendent as provided by the rules. The Holland High School charged that Edward Dusek left the school at Holland and enrolled in Temple High School and that the athletic council in Temple made it possible for him to attend Temple school by providing transportation and other necessary accomodations.

Dusek was the most promising star on the Holland team and the school would not give him up especially if it involved violation of the Interscholastic League rules.

In addition to this case other cases are charged against Temple High School which now faces suspension from Texas district for from one to three years.

Rules of the Interscholastic League of Texas provide that athletics shall be directed by the superintendent of the school and not by athletic councils and that no athlete can legitimately play in any form of athletic contest who is provided with transportation or any other accomodations that might be considered an inducement for him to attend any given school.

Based upon the outcome of this case the whole future rule of conduct for securing athletes will be revolutionized. It has become a common practice in Texas for schools to "go out and get athletes" in violation of the rules. In the Cameron school transportation has been provided, as has been the common practice of high schools all over Texas. If the contention of Holland High School is sustained before the Interscholastic League, this practice will have to be discontinued and there is considerable indication that athletic councils all over the state will have to re-adjust their relationship to the administration of athletics in the high schools of Texas.

Ray O'Neill, special agent of the Department of Commerce, reports that there were 33,543 bales of cotton ginned in Milam county from the crop of 1938 as compared with the 42,981 bales ginned from the crop of 1937. Round bales were counted as half bales in this report.

NO DEMAND FOR DRY ELECTION IN MILAM

The commissioners court will meet Friday afternoon to canvass a petition calling for a prohibition election in Milam county.

This same petition was presented to the court in January and was withdrawn by its sponsor, Mrs. J. R. McQuary. Her reason for withdrawing the petition at that time was to present it later in order to hold the election on the same date that trustees are to be elected over the county. The trustee election will be held on Saturday, April 1, and the prohibition election cannot be held on that date. Whether Mrs. McQuary will insist on another date remains to be seen.

In the meantime there has been no demand from the public for an election of this type and it was believed that the commissioners court would please the majority sentiment of Milam county if it can decline at this time to call this election. Whether the court will be able to deny this petition remains to be seen.

Practically all of the revenue now being paid to the old age pension fund in Texas is received from a tax on the sale of beer, wines and liquors. Supplementing this is the tobacco tax. At a time when the State of Texas is forced to borrow almost a million dollars to meet the requirements of its old age pension expenditure, thinking citizens everywhere on both sides of the prohibition question, seroiusly doubt whether this revenue should be taken away with nothing in sight to replace it.

The sale and distribution of beer, wines and liquors in Milam county has proceeded since repeal in an orderly way and there has been little or no complaint and law violations have been restricted in most every instance to those engaged in bootlegging.

Repeal of national prohibition was a part of national recovery and any interested voter who cares to do so can easily ascertain the mammouth contribution made through tax on legal beer and liquors to the national and the state treasuries throughout the United States.

The commissioners court when presented with a legal petition is obliged to call an election under normal conditions but it is hoped that some way can be found to avoid the unnecessary expense of such an election which cannot succeed in Milam ounty.

Phone Rates Reduction is Sought

Austin, Texas March 16.—The Senate state affairs committee Thursday favorably reported a bill by Doss Hardin giving the Railroad Commission jurisdiction to fix telephone rates and fixing a maximum phone instalation charge of $1.

Under the bill, a city would have the right to regulate telephone rates. If the company made the rate too high the city could apeal to the commission, as could the company if it thought the rates too low.

Rural communities could appeal directly to the commission in seeking lower rates, thus giving the commission original jurisdiction in such instances.

Before the bill was reported, statements were made to the committee by Crowley English of Dallas, attorney for the Southwesten Bell Company, and by George Butler, attorney for the Texas Telephone Association, consisting of the Bell and 368 independent concerns. They wanted a workable, practical, state-wide law administered by a body having knowledge of the telephone business, and sought a subcommittee to revise the measure along those lines, particularly to aid the small concerns.

On the roll call all fifteen members present voted to report the bill favorably.

Governor Is Visitor Here Sunday

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel worshiped in the First Methodist Church in Cameron on Sunday morning, driving to this city from Austin where he concluded earlier his usual Sunday morning broadcast.

Although the visit of Governor O'Daniel was not known in advance generally, a crowd of some 1500 people jammed the church and the yard believing they would hear the governor deliver an address.

Rev. A. J. McCary, pastor of the church knew at 6 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday that the governor would be in the church here on Sunday. Sharing the knowledge also was County Judge, Jeff T. Kemp who had joined the pastor earlier in the year in extending an invitation. Governor O'Daniel, Mrs. O'Daniel, and their children, Pat, Mike and Mollie were special luncheon guests in the home of Judge Kemp following the service.

Rev. McCary did not change the order of his program for the day. He delivered a sermon from the subject "Vital Things Touching the Life of a Nation" cleaving to the central thought that in every age of the world great revivals have resulted when people have gone back and recaptured the belief and faith that was first enunciated by the early Christians. At the conclusion of his address Rev. McCary asked Governor O'Daniel to say a few words. The governor confined his remarks to appropriate observations of the moment and dismissed the congregation with a prayer for better government in Texas.

It was the first visit of Governor O'Daniel to Cameron since his campaign speech here in 1938 when he spoke to approximately 12,000 people in Central City Park. The audience at the church on Sunday proved that the governor has lost none of his popularity, people coming for many miles being advised of the visit of the governor through the Sunday morning broadcast.

George Banzhaf, county agent, has been ill this week with a severe case of flu.

Mrs. Theo Hines of Houston has been at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. T. H. Turner.

FREED IN OLD KILLING HERE

John Meeks was found not guilty of murder by a jury in district court reporting at 10 a. m. Thursday morning.

Meeks was charged by indictment with murder in connection with the shooting to death of his brother in law, Chas. Kirk the night of Aug 8, 1936. The case had been reversed by the court of criminal appeals on an error. In the first trial Meeks was given a sentence of two years. His attorney J. W. Mercer took an appeal to the highter courts and succeeded in a reversal.

Kirk died as a result of gun shot wounds in a spectacular old-time gun battle in a street near the home of Mrs. Keith, mother of Mrs. Chas. Kirk and also mother of Mrs. John Meeks. Evidence in the trial showed that Meeks and his wife had driven up to the Keith home with Mrs. Kirk who had become estranged from her husband. As the car stopped Kirk is said to have driven up close to the Meeks machine, got out of his car and the battle started. Meeks got out of his car and began exchanging shots with Kirk. Meeks was shot through the right leg and as Kirk came around in plain view to the rear of his car, he was blasted with gun fire and fell to the ground. Evidence shows that Meeks after he had shot Kirk down, crawled up to his body and beat him severely about the head with a 45 caliber pistol.

Kirk was taken to a local hospital but died before he arrived. Meeks was also taken to the hospital and was in a critical condition for several months as result of the pistol wound in his leg which shattered the bone.

Kirk was firing a 41 caliber Colt revolver while Meeks was using a 45 caliber Colt revolver. In the trial Meeks plea was that he was attacked by Kirk and raised the issue of self-defense. The Keith home stands just south of the big plant of the Cameron Cotton Oil Company and so far as known the only eye witnesses to the shooting were Mrs. Meeks, Mrs. Kirk and members of the Keith household.

New Remedy Saves Pneumonia Victim

Remarkable results have apparently been obtained here through the use of Sulfapyridine in treatment of pneumonia.

Cameron doctors are now using this new drug in treatment of pneumonia and this week for the first time in Cameron, a Cameron pioneer woman, a patient in the Cameron hospital, was treated by her physicians who asked that their names be not published.

The Cameron patient showed almost instant response to this treatment and is doing well.

The Herald obtained from these physicians a brief history of the discovery of this remarkable drug now to be found in Cameron drug stores.

For the past twenty years scientists have been working to find a substance which would destroy germs in the human blood stream without injury to the body. As a result of this research, a few years ago Sulfanilamide was discovered by German scientists. This drug destroys the streptococcus germ that causes ordinary blood poisoning and childbed fever. This discovery put the scientists on the track for the discovery of the pneumonia killing drug.

A few months ago, the May & Baker Company of England announced that on their 693rd experiment they had found a chemical which would destroy the pneumonia germ. Its chemical designation is 2-Suflanilyl-Aminopyridine. It was also called "M & B" and later "Dagenan." This latter name is derived from the town in which the May & Baker Company is located in England, the city being named Dagenham, a suburb of London.

The drug was soon introduced in this country and sent to the large medical centers for experimental use. The American Medical As-

Society News

Mrs. Melvin Weems of Cameron had as her guests on last Thursday a large gathering of friends and relatives who came to celebrate with her the observance of her 50th birthday. The guests started arriving in the early morning and by noon there were between fifty and seventy-five present for the feast that was served. Delicious food prepared as only Mrs. Weems can cook it, was served infomally in an atmosphere of friendliness and hospitality. The long dining table was fairly loaded with all kinds of delicacies, every dish of which was prepared by Mrs. Weems and in the center was a large white birthday cake with pink candles. After the guests had admired the table with the birthday cake and its lighted candles the honoree blew the candles, after which J. M. Terry of Yarrellton observed the age old tradition of giving thanks. Of the family of thirteen children Mrs. Weems' sisters and brothers, the three oldest, the two youngest and the seventh child were present for the birthday celebration. The oldest are Andrew Richards of North Elm, Mrs. Nannie Price and L. V. Richards of Minerva. The youngest are the honoree, Mrs. Weems and Mrs. J. M. Fuller. The honoree came to the United States in 1910 and has lived in Milam county since that time except for a few years during which time she resided in Temple. Since her husband's death on Sept. 20, 1932, on their 37th wedding anniversary, she and her daughter, Mrs. Hugo Boedeker and her husband have been living together in their home here. Mrs. Hampel has many friends who congratulate her upon her birthday and wish for her many more years of happiness and prosperity.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lehner, who for the past week have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Anna Hampel and other relatives here left for their home in East St. Louis, Ill., on Monday morning. Less Johnson Grass

I was outlining the radio program of May 8 which detailed our views on the subject of old-age pensions. Among other things I had spoken of the fact that Texas deserved its part of the federal funds, which ought and should be matched with state money. And I continued:

The big-moneyed interests of the East have for years been draining every dollar they could from our state by all kinds of schemes. And I say it is sound business for Texas to get it back by any honest plan. It requires so much for these old folks to live on anyhow. Somebody in Texas must pay that board bill, whether it is a son or a daughter or the neighbors or the state. And so why not use a plan of paying it whereby some one outside of our state will match what we pay and therefore, get that much additional money brought within the borders of Texas from the outside?

From another business standpoint I favor old-age pensions. Many a man or woman in middle age has laid away a dollar for a rainy day instead of using it to exploit some invention or idea of theirs which might have added much to our business advancement. They might have used their little savings to start a business which would have made them wealthy, but fear of destitution in old age prompted them to hoard it instead. Old-age pensions on a business basis, paid promptly and definitely, will relieve that fear from our middle-aged citizens. In business terms, I would say the old-age pension problem is with us. So let's quit kicking it around. Let's settle it definitely and get on to other important business matters. I propose, therefore, that this be the slogan of our campaign:

"Less Johnson grass and politicians; more smokestacks and businessmen."

Stop Kicking Businessman.

We have got to quit kicking the businessman around. We have got to promise the businessman something besides a delightful climate and plenty of fresh air to breathe. We have got room here in Texas for a dozen Henry Fords, some Firestones and Edisons, and businessmen will gladly locate their factories in a place if there be one where the restrictions don't burn out their bearings, where the state inspectors are not so thick as to block highways and thereby keep customers away from their factories, where the tax collectors don't take the buttons off the coats and trousers.

If businessmen could dispense with some of the attorneys and lobbyists who are now necessary to fight the ridiculous bills presented to each Legislature by theoretical politicians, those businessmen could hire more men to work in their factories. If we could wipe the state clean of all silly laws and give honest businessmen a chance to breathe and develop their business and their natural resources, we would not have to worry about whether grandma could have two beans or just one in her soup. And, in my opinion, if we do not cut out these silly laws and restrictions on business, we will soon have to enlarge the pension law to include the barbers, the independent retail grocers, the poor traveling salesman, the independent retail grocers, the poor traveling salesman, the bell boys, and last but not least, if you can believe it, the tax collectors.

Asks Campaigning Help

A few good Christian folks have criticized me for talking politics on my Sunday programs. But they are probably the ones who go to church while grandma stays at home cooking a big Sunday dinner to have it ready for them when they get back. I am fully aware of the sanctity of the Sabbath, but I am also fully aware that many old folks are hungry today, and this is the Sabbath. I am fully aware of the disrespect too many folks have for the high offices of our government. And I say to them that if the offices are unclean, shall Christianty shun them, ar shall Christianity try to clean them up? The officers of good government and the authors of religion should stand side by side on sacred pedestals.

Today, instead of singing Rocking Alone in an Old Rocking Chair, I am trying to get something for you mothers so you can have food to eat. It costs lots of money to pay the necessary expense of a campaign, especially when other candidatese or their backers are spending $20,000 in one day for a big barbecue, as reported in the newspapers yesterday. Thousands, and perhaps millions of dollars have been pledged or will be spent by the big-moneyed interests to defeat old-age pensions. I an informed that some moneyed interests are contributing generously to more than one candidate, not caring which one gets elected just so one of them does. But these folks are not contributing to our campaign. The only things that can prevent us from winning is lack of sufficient campaign funds. If you want me to run the race on a bicycle, while the other candidates have high-powered cars, that is up to you.

Sees Sweeping Victory.

I will do the best I can with the tools you place in my hands. But it is time to fight for your rights instead of rocking alone in that old rocking chair. I say to you in all sincerity, and with due respect, you had better take that old rocking chair down and mortgage it and spend the money in the manner you think best to get your pension. With more than 57,000 people back of me and most everyone of those supporters have at least ten friends, this thing looks like the most sweeping victory for the common people ever recorded in history. But we have not one dollar in our campaign fund. (It is interesting to note how closely this propehecy was bore out. I received 573,166 votes.)

Radio time costs nearly double for political programs as against commercial programs, and pictures and posters and stickers cost money. Newspaper advertising costs lots of money. Clerical help for answering thousands of letters is expensive. The fight is on. Some friends have asked me for copies of these radio talks. We will gladly have copies mailed to anyone who desires them upon receipt of 25c for each copy. You might wish several copies sent to your friends who do not have radios. This is perhaps the first businessman's campaign you ever heard of.

I will rise or fall on the business merits of this campaign, and I intend to keep it absolutely free from graft all the way. This is W. Lee O'Daniel speaking and wishing you happiness and prosperity.

Touring Beautiful Texas.

In many ways the campaign for Governor was won before we started. That is, the announcement and the platform as given over the radio struck such an instantaneous and state-wide response that, had the primary been held six weeks or two months earlier, the final result probably would not have been very different. At least I knew from the result of the posteard campaign that the chances of victory were excellent.

But if there is one thing I like to do it is to get out in the field and meet folks face to face. It's the salesman in me, I suppose, for all through my radio work of almost ten years I have always enjoyed touring Texas and appearing before crowds at all kinds of meetings. The Hillbilly Boys and Texas Rose share this love of direct contact with our listeners—something that is denied you if you stick to close to the radio studios.

So early in June we made preparations to start out on a campaign tour of beautiful Texas. School was out so that Pat and Mike, two members of the band, and Molly, who was all in a dither to help her daddy rounding up votes, could go along. We had the white bus with loud-speaker equipment gone over and set out on June 7 for what was to become the most exciting experience of my life.

Intensive Campaign Wins.

The other major candidates for Governor had been at work for weeks and months. Some said for years. But I believed that six to seven weeks of intensive travel, speaking three and four times a day and keeping in contact with the rest of the folks by radio hookup, was enough. The result on July 23 seems to bear that out completely.

We headed first into East Texas. Jacksonville was our first stop, in the height of the tomato festval season. Then we went on to the great Tom Tom celebration at Yoakum. And all the while we were pointing toward Waco where on Monday June 13, we were scheduled to make what the old-line political experts would call the opening rally. On the air I made this advance announcement:

If the folks don't throw too many tomatoes at us at Jacksonville and Yoakum, then we are really going to have a big time at Waco next Monday night. It is going to be the night of nights. The Hillbilly Boys and I are going to put on a program on the Courthouse Square that will be heard around Texas for some time to come. So all you folks who have ever written us a post card or a letter, harness up old Dobbin or crank up old Lizzie and drive over to Waco. It should be one of the greatest outpourings of common citizens ever gathered together in one city.

The Waco opening of our speech-making campaign in the field was a humdinger. The crowd was enormous and the pep and enthusiasm and the size of the gathering was a bombshell for the old-line politicians. As the Waco News Tribue summarized it the next morning in its headlines:

'Nothing like it in half a century; O'Daniel on courthouse lawn brings out unfamiliar faces; not a politicial gathering but a revolution, says politician from state capital; crowd twice as large as that which saw Mitchell hanged; what's meaning? asked by thousands.

Papers Notice Turnout.

Other Texas papers picked up reports from the mammoth turnout of folks at Waco. Considerable space was also given to our platform which had already been outlined on the air and which stressed the slogan: Less Johnson grass and paliticians; more smokestacks and businessmen.

Starting out with a bang in the Waco meeting, we headed west into West Texas, Abilene, Ballinger and on to San Angelo, where 8,000 people turned out to hear their candidate. Old-timers told me that they had lived in San Angelo for over fifty years and they had never before seen anything like it in the way of size and enthusiasm. And that became our daily experience as we continued the whirlwind tour of beautiful Texas—everywhere we went the downtrodden and oppressed and forgotten common citizens of Texas came out in droves and stood for hours listening in amazement to a common ordinary businessman doing something never before attempted. That was to talk business from a politicial platform. Because I was telling the people of Texas how this great state can be put on a business basis so that commerce and trade will flow freely and factories will operate. Then men and women will be able to get jobs and earn an honest living and be happy, provided we could chase the professional politicians from the altars of freedom on the July 23 election.

Greatness of Common People.

No man could come away from those open-air meetings from one end of Texas to the other without a new sense of the greatness and worth of the common people. At the conclusion of our talks you could see the lines of worry and want soften. I could see a ray of hope shining in the eyes of the hundreds of thousands gathered before me. And in their friendly handclasp I could feel the firm grip of renewed confidence and an irresistible determination to fight this thing through to victory.

Planting Furrows . . .

Each year at this time there is renewal of planting furrows which means that our people are happy in the engagement of farming. For centuries the American people have been farmers and business men. We hope nothing ever occurs to stop that program.

This bank's friendly interest in those who plant and produce from the soil has been one of its underlying business principles through all the years it has operated. We invite the farmers and the business men to take advantage of the facilities of this fine bank and know the advantages such a connection means to the success of their business.

This bank is a friendly bank, whether the transaction is large or small and by this policy we have made many friends through the years.

sociation adopted the name Sulfapyridine and a few days ago the Department of Agriculture under the Federal Drug Act gave its permission for the drug to be made available generally.

Cameron doctors have known about this drug since its discovery and have made every effort to learn of its effect. On Monday two local physicians were successful in having a supply brought to Cameron by special messenger. The drug stores in Cameron now have a full supply available. The doctors warn against the indiscriminate use of Sulfapyridine. Its administration is not without certain dangers and the patient being treated should be under the close and careful supervision of a physician.

The patient at the Cameron hospital had a fully developed case of lobar pneumonia involving an entire lung. The temperature was high but after twenty-four hours the temperature had returned to normal. Her physicians feel that a certain long illness and possible death have been averted.

NEW LIBERAL FHA TERMS

With The CAMERON ROTARIANS

One of the best ways to put the Ideals and principals of Rotary before the citizens of this community, is to have programs such as we had last Wednesday, mhen we had as our guests the entire School Board, and E. A. Perrin, Superintendent, as our guest speaker, we have renewed our acquaintance with them, the interest we have shown in them, creates a better understanding in the work they are doing, and a better Rotary spirit among them. The Cameron Fire Department, the Bar Association and the Peace Officers of this city are the best boosters we have. Why, because we demonstrated that unselfish and friendly feeling among them.

But, if you want to bring prespects to join the Rotary Club, bring them along this week when we will have Hubert T. Johnson, District Governor, of the 128th, District, who is an authority on Rotary International, to speak to us, with just a little effort and determination I believe every member can bring along a good prospect. LETS TRY.

We all bow our heads in sympathy with our good Rotarian, Dr. E. R. Zellner, in his bereavement at the death of his dear Mother, Mrs. F. E. Zellner.

Our attendance record compared to the previous meeting of March 10, was somewhat upset last week, White, Zellner, Glass, Coffield, Bonds, Ford and Smith were absent.

Youth are in the spotlight at the present time. They are faced with conditions which make it exceedingly difficult for them to get a normal start on the road to economic security and as a result many of them hardly know which way to turn they are disheartened by the lack of opportunities and discouraged by the outlook for the future. Much is being done for the young people but much more remains to be done, and hence, YOUTH SERVICE is a particularly timely activity for the consideration of Rotarians and Rotary Clubs. One of the most effective methods of discovering about what youth are thinking, what their problems and needs are, and other information that will guide the youth service activities of Rotary Clubs and Rotarians is the youth hearing or panel discussion. This is commended by the boys work—youth service committee of R. I. as a means by which youth are enabled to tell their story dramatically and effectively and in a manner particularly helpful to those interested in serving youth.

Let us again call your attention to the advantages of visiting neighboring Clubs, when the opportunity presents itself, then we can realize just what Rotary means to us, you know get out of life just what we put into it, likewise, so with Rotary, you only get out of it what you put in it.

Program For WEDNESDAY

Address by
HUBERT T. JOHNSON
District Governor, 128th, District, Waco, Texas.

I am sure you all agree with Rotarian Leber of Malang, Java, in his version of Rotary, when he says "If Rotary gives and takes, at home and the club, between associates and competitors, weak and strong, subalterns and masters, if the spirit of Rotary promotes mutual understanding and disinterested service, it will be in the future a valuable co-worker of all who serve mankind."

We are all happy to know that J. B. White is up and able to be on the job again, and we know J. B. is happy to be well again, health is happiness. "Happiness is the only Good, the place to be happy is everywhere, the time to be happy is now. The way to be happy is to help make others so.

Horstmann

as street commissioner he has opened up a number of new streets and has paved a way for the construction of many new homes in additions opened up with the advantage of new streets.

Mr. Horstmann is one of Cameron's leading businessmen, a heavy tax payer and fully understands the need for economy at all times but has not neglected to make expenditures where work was necessary to be done.

As a member of the Council Mr. Horstmann has co-operated in every way with the government of Mayor Smith and his friends are proud of the record he has made as a hard-working, devoted alderman. The city of Cameron is able to report a financial condition equal if not better than any city of its population in the United States. Recently a bonding firm in New York said that the credit of the city of Cameron was one of the best of any city of its size in the United States. Mr. Horstmann does not take credit for this condition of the city but is happy to have had a part along with the other members of the Council and the mayor in keeping the city of Cameron in a healthy financial condition and at the same time can point to many constructive works during his service as a member of the board.

Mr. Horstmann invites the people to look into his record and will continue to welcome suggestions and co-operation of the people for the betterment of Cameron. He is deeply grateful for the splendid vote which has been given him from time to time and in the election on Tuesday, April 4, will appreciate your vote and support.

Mr. Horstmann makes this announcement in Cameron newspapers to tell the people he wants their vote and support for re-election and if he is not able to see and talk with each voter personally he wants each one to consider this his personal appeal for their vote and support on Tuesday April 4.

B. T. U. MEETING

The Milam County Sunday School and B. T. U. Association will meet at the Ben Arnold Baptist Church on Sunday, March 19, at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Ben Stohler, president of the organization will preside and Rev. Han Morman, pastor of the Walkers Creek Baptist Church will be the main speaker.

At this old store you will find a complete stock for your every need. Sherwin-Williams make a paint for every purpose.

It is economy to use good paint and good paint really costs less than the so called cheaper kinds.

Jackson

bill is enacted into law the city can take advantage of it and it is his purpose to work for a general reduction in telephone rates.

Mr. Jackson served two terms on the Board of Aldermen, has manifested more than usual interest in the affairs of his city and has made a close study of municipal government. His friends point out as result of his experience that he is abundantly qualified to render an outstanding service as a member of the Board of Aldermen.

Mr. Jackson said that he deeply appreciates the many frineds among all voters who have expressed their support of him for this place and hopes to be able to see each one before Tuesday, April 4. In the event he is unable to make so thorough a canvass he makes this announcement in the newspapers of Cameron to assure each one that he is deeply grateful in advance for any favors that may be shown him.

Mr. Jackson has many loyal friends throughout the city who will be pleased to know that he is to be a candidate for alderman. Mr. Jackson said that he had received encouragement throughout the city and is deeply grateful for this advance manifestation of interest in his race.

Mr. Jackson if elected to the board will co-operate with the administration in every way possible to bring about greater benefits to the city from taxes paid by property owners. He believes that every section of the city should have its just share of the benefits of the money paid into the treasury and belives that the burden of taxes can be lessened by strict business methods and proposes to keep the city's present good financial condition up to standard by keeping well within the revenues and building up a cash reserve. Any support in his behalf by friends and the people at large will be greatly appreciated and Mr. Jackson pledges his ability and experience to repay the voters for the confidence he asks them to manifest in his election to the Council.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 26.

The Golden Text is: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Philippians 4:8.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of the stars, how high they are! . . . Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee" (Job 22:12, 21.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is reflected in existence, Truth in truthfulness, God in goodness, which impart their own peace and permanence" (page 516.)

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

"Disillusioned But Not Embittered," will be the sermon subject Sunday morning at 10:55.

The subject at 7:45 p. m. The Past Is Irreparable, The Future Is Available.

Church school at 9:45 a. m.

People go where they want to go as was revealed on last Sunday when eight hondred to a thousand were present at the Methodist church on the occasion of the Governor's presence. Neither is it a secret that people do what they want to do on the Lord's Day. If they want to worship God and receive spiritual strength for Christian service, they naturally go to church. If more interested in other things, they do not go to church. Jesus asked some friends to watch with him while he prayed in a garden called Gethsemane—they slept while he prayed about a lost world. Shall we sleep or watch with him during these troublesome times? Hear that sermon Sunday night.
